Henry S. Canby Will Discourse At Convocation

"The Message of John Galsworthy" Is Topic of Literary Critic's Address

140 TO GET DEGREES

Exercises Will Be Held in Constitution Hall Tomorrow Evening

Dr. Henry Seidel Canby, professor of English Literature at Yale University, will deliver the convocation address at the one hundred twelfth winter convocation of The George Washington University, which will be held in Constitution Hall tomorrow at 8 p. m., when 140 degrees will be conferred.

Dr. Canby, who will address the convocation on "The Message of John Galsworthy," is one of the foremost literary critics in America. He has taught at Yale University since 1900 and has lectured at Dartmouth, at the University of California, and at Cambridge University in England.

As founder and editor of "The Saturday Review of Literature," he has excited a formative influence upon critical opinion. Dr. Canby is also a member of the "Book of the Month" Committee.

John Russell Mason, assistant librarian of the University, and well-known organist of the Central Presbyterian Church, will begin the convocation exercises with an organ recital. Mr. Mason has chosen a group of three numbers.

The Processional March, led by Marshal Elmer Louis Kayser, follows the organ recital. President Cloyd Heck Marvin, the deans of the colleges, and members of the faculty, garbed in the colors of their degrees, precede the graduates in the procession.

Delivery of the invocation will be made by the Rev. J. Harvey Dunham, D. D. Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president.

Maryland, Goucher, Hood to Participate In Group Dansante

Colleges to Be Guests of Women's Athletics Department for Symposium

The University of Maryland, Goucher College, Fredericksburg Normal School, Hood College, Virginia State Teachers and the Marjorie Webster School, at the invitation of the department of physical education for women, will participate with George Washington in a symposium of the dance. The symposium will be given Saturday, February 25, at 2:30 p. m. in Pierce Hall of the All Soul's Church, Sixteenth and Harvard streets.

Miss Ruth Aubeck, instructor in the woman's physical education department is in charge of arrangements for the program. Miss Alice Gates, dancing instructor at Hood College, has been asked to lead the discussion which will follow the dance presentation; Bettie Eifelt of George Washington will conduct the student discussion group.

Each school will be represented either by its dance club or by a selected group from its classes. Instructors have been asked to present a short paper on their own particular approach to the dance, which will be demonstrated by the presentation of their respective groups.

Following the recital, groups from the various colleges will be guests of the women's physical education department at tea. Catherine J. Fox is in charge of arrangements.

Miss Aubeck is working on several numbers with Orchestras which will represent the G. W. dancing groups. Members of Orchestras have created an original number called "Grottesques" to the accompaniment of modern music. Myrtle Williams has designed unusual and striking costumes for this number. In contrast to the fantastic movements of this number, Orchestras will present a pantomime of nursery rhymes. A group of major students from the physical education department will demonstrate in several vigorous fundamental movements, the dancing technique used by Miss Aubeck.

The dance symposium, which was instituted at Barnard College, N. Y. C., last spring, is a new idea in the dance. The great success and benefit derived by both teachers and pupils from this symposium has been the inspiration for a similar arrangement by the George Washington department.

Officers of Seniors Urge Subscriptions To Graduate Fund

Endowment Could Be Increased $7,600 if Each Graduate Signs Pledge

Seniors who are to receive their degrees at the winter convocation on February 22, are being asked by the senior class officers to make pledges to the Graduate Endowment Fund.

A letter has been sent by Jack Goode, class president, to each graduate explaining the aims and purposes of the fund and asking him to subscribe thereto.

The Graduate Endowment Fund was founded by the members of the classes of 1926, and now has a total pledged of $27,175. There are 76 members in the February graduating class. If every member of the class signs a pledge, it is pointed out, the sum of $7,600 will be added to the fund, making a total of $34,775.

Junior classes, numbering each year 450 or more graduates, should swell

Danzansky Flays Free in Student Council Hearings

Interfrat Council Believes Student Council Social Functions Unfair Competition

THURSDAY SESSION CALM

Free's Statement That Managerial System Is O. K. Arouses Danzansky

The second section of Student Council hearings resulted in heated word battles between witnesses and the Council.

Wendell Bain, the first witness, said the Interfraternity Council felt that the Student Council took a decided advantage of all organizations in having the power to decide on dates for social functions. He expressed the desire that the Student Council refrain from sponsoring any social functions whatsoever. In this he was upheld passively by Bill Hanback, Interfraternity Council representative present. A note of opposition was voiced by the Panhellenic representative, Ruth Warren.

Free Opposes Plan
Jerry Free was called upon by President Billings to discuss the managerial system and his attitude toward a system of awards to be given by the Council for outstanding activity leaders in addition to athletic awards. Free expressed his feelings by fervently stating: "I don't want to throw cold water on your plans, but I don't think you can do us any good." He stated that the system of promotion and award was absolutely impartial.

Joe Danzansky opened his interview with a denial in very emphatic language of Free's statement that the managerial system is run on an impartial basis. After his wrath had subsided, he brought forth a plea for class dues for all classes. Under the plan all students would be required to pay a small additional sum to the student activity fee at registration, which would be apportioned proportionately to each class.

Thursday evening was less fiery. Dan Beattie, Louise Wright, and Don Wilkins laid before the Council suggestions to benefit dramatics on the campus.

Awards Considered Unnecessary
The award plan discussed on Wednesday evening was not opposed, but was considered unnecessary.

Suggestions for a dramatic council composed of two members each from Troubadours and Cue and Curtain, the faculty advisors of both organizations and the head of the dramatic department. These suggestions were received with favor by both organizations.

Men's Debate Team To Argue Thursday

The men's debate team will meet Washington and Lee in the first debate of the season, Thursday, February 25, in Stockton Hall 10, at 8:15 p. m.

The question is: "Resolved, That the United States adopt the British system of radio control." Phillip Merryman and Wilburn West will uphold the negative of the question for George Washington University. There will be a series of ten debates this season, five for the men and five for the women. The next one will take place in the early part of March.

"The Romantic Young Lady," a Sierra Comedy, Chosen for Spring Production

Spanish Opus Is Modern Comedy Replete With Sophistication and Caustic Wit; Try-outs in Corcoran Hall 33 Tomorrow and Thursday

"The Romantic Young Lady," a sprightly modern comedy by Martinez Sierra, has been selected by the Cue and Curtain Club as its spring presentation. Tryouts will be held Thursday and Friday evenings, at 7:30 o'clock, in Corcoran Hall 33, under the supervision of Constance Connor Brown, director.

Five women and six men appear in this play, including the romantic leads, three comedy roles, and six character parts. The romantic young lady, Rosario, is a modern girl, yet very sentimental, who is always reading love and romance stories, and dreaming of her Prince Charming. The male lead, who appears as "The Apparition," is an author and an ultra-sophisticated man-about-town.

Three Comedy Roles.
The comedy parts are Maria Pape, a maid who aids and abets the romantic young lady in her sentimental attachments, and plays an important part in the complexities of the plot; Don Juan, presumably a gay Spanish caballero of the old school; and finally the old congerie.

Dona Barbarita, Rosario's grandmother, is a part that might prove to be the hit of the play, being the characterization of an old lady with a sharp wit, whose caustic but apt comments on life are projected in a typical grand dame manner. The remaining character role is that of a voluptuous opera singer who flaunts her wiles in daring fashion before the young Spaniards.

Rosario's three brothers, who are young, handsome and gay, and a secretary complete the dramatic personae. Martinez Sierra's comedy is a swift-moving piece of dramatic writing which is peculiarly adapted to college production, and the talent present in the University should be able to handle the delineations in a style comparable with the best amateurs in this locale.

Zahn Improved

Captain Arthur Zahn, who received a badly fractured nose in the Loyola game Thursday night when he collided with Vince Carlin, left the hospital Sunday after undergoing an operation Friday morning. Last night his condition was reported as favorable, although extreme doubt was expressed regarding his entrance into the New York tourney.

Zahn will make the trip to Gotham with the team on Tuesday, and if his condition permits, he will take his usual place in the starting line-up. If Zahn is unable to play, Johnny Fenlon, who flashed so brilliantly when he substituted for the captain Saturday, will be called upon to fill the vacancy.

"Thyroid Treatment" Is Topic At Medics' Annual Celebration

Dr. Walter W. Palmer Addresses University Medical Society Banquet

Recent progress made by medical science in the study of the thyroid gland was reported by Dr. Walter W. Palmer, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, in an address delivered before members of The George Washington University Medical Society at their annual banquet Saturday evening at the Mayflower Hotel.

Dr. Palmer, who has specialized in the physiological aspects of the thyroid, stated that while it is generally agreed that surgery is the best method of dealing with goitre, in recent years there have been very important and interesting contributions to the physiology of the thyroid gland that may eventually result in the perfection of other types of treatment for the disease. A recent increase of the disease noted in the past five or six years may be attributed to the strain of modern living, he said.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Earl Baldwin McKinley, Dean of the George Washington University School of Medicine. Dr. John A. Reed, president of the society, presided. Some 300 physicians, including many leading members of the medical profession in Washington attended.

At the speakers' table were a group of distinguished honor guests, including the president of the board of commissioners of the District, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer; the surgeons general of the United States Navy and the Public Health Service; the deans of the Johns Hopkins University, Georgetown University, and University of Maryland Medical Schools; the Provost of George Washington University, Dr. William Allen Wilbur; and members of the board of trustees and emeritus professors of the University.

A program of music was given by the men's and women's glee clubs of the University, under the direction of Dr. Robert Howe Harmon.

Senior Yearbook Data Must Be Filed by Thursday

Seniors whose pictures are appearing in The Cherry Tree must file their senior information cards at the Publications Office, first floor Building T, 2016 H street northwest, not later than Thursday, February 23. Ralph McCoy, editor, states, "Failure to file this card will mean that only your name will appear beside your picture," he said.

Colonial Quintet Meets C. C. N. Y. Tomorrow In New York Tourney

O'Leary-trained Five Leaves for Madison Square Garden Courts Today

ZAHN PROBABLY OUT

Local Team Enters Charity Game With 14 Victories and 4 Defeats

By ROBERT HERZOG

Culminating a season of 14 victories in 18 games, the O'Leary-trained Colonials board an "iron horse" today to make their first appearance in the Annual New York Charity Tourney, which will be held in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. A string of eight straight victories gives a more than favorable light to the local cause, but Dame Fortune raised her ugly head as Captain Zahn, star guard, went down Thursday night with a badly fractured nose. Whether he will play is still a matter of conjecture, depending on the rapidity of his recovery.

The local quintet has amassed 878 points to a total of 537 for its opponents. City College of New York, the Colonial opponents in the charity tilt, has a record equally as brilliant and lists among its victims some of the strongest teams in Eastern collegiate basketball. When the two teams clash tomorrow night at 9:30 in the Madison Garden, court, a classic battle is expected.

Correct Burgess, rowing and basketball star, will be fighting to retain his record that is being endangered by Jimmy Howell, blonde cage artist who is so adequately filling the shoes of Wick Parrack. When the Johnnies from Annapolis invaded the H street meeting house the other night, Soapy Fenlon made a ferocious stab at a regular birth, dropping the ball through the hoop for nine points.

Wayne Chambers, the fire of the floor team, showed up well in last week's encounters and promises to be the ever-dependable guard when the big game commences. The fight between

Women Will Debate Swarthmore Friday

Critchfield, Talley, Dubin Uphold Affirmative of War Debts Debate

Clara Critchfield, Esther Talley, and Charlotte Dubin, composing the women's debate team for George Washington, will meet a team from Swarthmore on Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the Friends' School meeting house, 1819 Eye street. George Washington will uphold the affirmative.

The question will be: "Resolved, That the United States Should Agree to the Cancellation of Inter-Allied War Debts." The debate will be held under the auspices of the Swarthmore Alumni Association of Washington, but students and the general public are invited to attend. An open forum discussion will follow the debate.

Boston University and the University of Pittsburgh are on the season's debate schedule. Seven or eight debates will take place with different universities. The squad numbers thirteen at present; these people will compose teams during the season.

On March 10, at Hood College, Helen Sherfy, Marjorie Nelson, and Elizabeth Rice will speak on the negative of the Swarthmore debate question, meeting a Frederick team.

Scholastic Society Bids Ten Freshmen

A reception will be given by Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman scholastic fraternity, at the Phi Alpha house, Friday evening, February 24, at 8:30 o'clock, in honor of the freshmen who have recently achieved the qualifications necessary for membership.

Following is a list of those students who have attained a scholastic average for the first semester of 3.5: Willard Schall, Warren Churchill, Benjamin Davis, Samuel Dove, Joseph Friedman, Robert Hanks, Howard Hartman, Charles Kocher, R. Lawrence, and H. B. Lee.

George Washington Students Hire Special Train for Gotham Tilt

TRAIN FARE REDUCED

Pixlee-men First Non-residents Invited to Join Annual Tournament

Coach O'Leary and his record-making Colonial basketball team will leave tomorrow for New York City, where they will meet C. C. N. Y. in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

A special car of George Washington rosters will make the trip, having received excursion rates on special George Washington Birthday excursion trains. The train will leave Wednesday at 8:15 a. m. A rate of $3.50 has been obtained.

While in New York members of the team will take part in a ceremony in celebration of Washington's Birthday. They will lay a wreath on a statue of the great statesman located in the heart of the metropolis.

Tickets for the basketball games range in price from 50 cents to $2. In the afternoon Brooklyn vs. St. Francis at 2:30; Columbia vs. Williams at 3:30; and Manhattan vs. Villanova at 4:30, compose the schedule. At night besides the C. C. N. Y. G. W. game at 9:30 there will be a meet between Carnegie Tech and New York at 7:30; and St. Johns—Portland at 8:30.

Junior Prom Dues Plan Given Sanction By Student Council

Danzansky, Class President, Hopes Council Will Approve $2 Assessment

Having received approval from the Student Council during the past week for the assessment of dues for members of the junior class for the purpose of carrying out a social program this spring which will include a Junior Prom, officers of the class, headed by Joseph Danzansky, are now waiting further action by the Student Council making such dues definite in amount, and compulsory in nature.

According to Danzansky the main objective for the proposal of an assessment of two dollars on every member of the class, which is estimated at 150 throughout the University, would be to assure the financial success of a Junior Prom. Such an event has not been held in the University since 1928, at which time there was incurred a deficit of around fifty dollars. This debt was paid subsequently by the Interfraternity Council, because of a lack of organization on the part of the Junior Class to take care of the obligation.

Since then no class has been organized sufficiently for the promoting of a venture of the magnitude of a Junior Prom. For this reason ballots have been printed in The Hatchet, which will be found on page 6.

It is planned to hold the prom cost down to two dollars for each member of the junior class providing the assessment of dues is passed as proposed. The committee in charge of tentative plans is considering the importation of a nationally known orchestra.

The following new committees have been appointed from members of the junior class: Contact Committee, Platonis Papps, Katherine Cutler, Louise Cox and Louise Linkins; Welfare Committee, Eleanor King and Doris Skinner; Prom Committee, Grace Giffen, Wendell Bain, and Arthur Schreiber; Constitution Committee, Samuel Samuels, Catherine Fox, and Jack Gilman.

Graduating Women Guests At Lambie House Tea Party

Women of the graduating class of February, 1933, were the guests of Mrs. Vinnie Giffen Barrows at a tea held in Lambie House, Wednesday, February 15.

Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin and Mrs. Josue Evans, Jr., poured, assisted by Edith Brookhart, Mary Geiser, Mrs. Mildred Percy, Elizabeth Reese, and Mrs. Mary M. Roos.

Cue and Curtain Try-outs Are Especially Attractive This Year

Cue and Curtain announces the selection of its spring play. The cast includes five female and six male parts. These parts are open to all students in the University regardless of membership in Cue and Curtain. Try-outs will soon be held and there should be great competition for the roles.

Cue and Curtain has shown evidence of new life by its projected plan for at least three nights of performance and reduced rates of admittance. This means that more students than ever before should see the spring production and that, therefore, a part in this production is more to be sought after. Those interested should contact some member of Cue and Curtain immediately and make arrangements to compete in the try-outs.

Seniors Should Subscribe To the Graduate Endowment Fund

Members of the February graduating class are reminded of their opportunity to leave a further mark on the University by means of their contribution to the Graduate Endowment Fund. The committee of this graduating class is now contacting these seniors in an effort to make this contribution 100 per cent.

The plan in effect is so arranged as to work a hardship on no one and at the same time makes it possible for students leaving the University to do something concrete for their Alma Mater. In years to come they will be proud of having accepted this opportunity to do a real service for The George Washington University. Seniors should make it a point to contribute to the Graduate Endowment Fund.

Why Not Make the Winner Of the Popularity Contest "First Lady"?

Last year Gate and Key staged a popularity contest in conjunction with the All-University Carnival. Almost eight hundred dollars was raised for the University Band in this manner. A campus queen was chosen and crowned as a climax to the carnival festivities. However, after the coronation little was heard of the "Queen of the Carnival." May we suggest that the winner of the popularity contest this year receive the title of "First Lady of The University" and be considered as an official hostess to athletic events, receptions to celebrities, and otherwise officiate in this capacity until the election of her successor the following year.

Gate and Key deserves much credit for the staging of this annual event and it is to be hoped that its success this year will surpass even that of last spring. They should have no trouble because the recipient of this honor can be made an outstanding figure on the campus and the position should be much sought after.

The Junior Class Is Apparently Dead And the Issues Remain Unsettled

Little or no interest was shown by members of the junior class in response to the ballot printed in The Hatchet concerning class dues. From that we can only conclude that this junior class is like junior classes that have gone before and is interested in no activity of the class.

Next year these juniors will be seniors and the year following they will go forth and mingle with society as alumni of The George Washington University. If we may judge from their activities here we must conclude they will go into society perfectly willing to let someone else show them the way in whatever field they happen to be cast adrift.

There is much that can be done by members of the junior class whereby they may gain certain experience which might prove invaluable to them after their college days. However it seems that members of this class are not interested and so there will be no class dues, probably no junior prom, and in fact, no junior class, if present and past interests may be used as a criterion.

There Should Be a Good Crowd At the Charity Game in New York

Tomorrow night the basket ball team plays in the New York City Charity Tournament. This is an honor for the team, the University, and the students as integral parts of the University. The special train will carry as many as wish to make the trip to New York at the very reasonable rate of three dollars and fifty cents per person per round trip. Tickets for the game range from fifty cents to two dollars.

There should be a good representation from George Washington to spur this exceptionally good basket ball team on to a victory over what is perhaps the toughest assignment in the tournament. Students interested in making the trip may complete arrangements at the athletic office.

Bouquets and Brickbats

'Tis a bouquet for what was characterized as a "nice" dance under Zeta Tau Alpha supervision Friday night. . . . Rotten break for the Zeta girls, though. . . . they reserved the palatial Corcoran Hall dance floor before Christmas only to be informed, much to their chagrin, that the proceeds of Friday night's shindig would have to be split 50-50 with the Spanish Club, which was given a reservation for the same floor on the same night. . . . despite the fact that its permit was granted some time after the holidays. . . . few dandelions for the messy system of stamping people's hands to prevent "crashing". . . . great joy stalks among depressed students as more or less coy coeds seek to help the Scottish Rite endowment fund for the School of Government by disposing of cherry blossoms. . . . (this is a national drive by the Scottish Rite Unit, which has established a fund in excess of two million simoleons at G. W.) . . . our sympathy to Arthur Zahn, who is nursing a broken nose as a result of a hectic Colonial-Loyola basketball scramble. . . . Phi Sig pledges deserve a bouquet for an initial dance at which members of the Pledge Council were guests. . . . at last G. W. U. swimmers break into the bouquet koin for their victory over the William and Mary aggregation. . . . not much respect for the high and mighty bit of haughtiness in the University Library, who, upon casting an appraising eye over a book applicant, informed him that students weren't allowed to draw out textbooks. . . . (and all of this without so much as inquiring in what department the student was enrolled or what courses he might be carrying). . . . after a decidedly pleasant interview with the amiable Mr. Gillis of the bursar's office we've come to the conclusion that perhaps, after all, University students still are and ever will remain "children" and nothing else but. . . . at least there are such in sufficient quantities to justify the gentleman's refusal to cash checks. . . . and then, too, such transactions are made upon his personal liability. . . . and if parents can't trust students and students insist upon attempting to "get by" with things. . . . there is nothing much the University can do about it. . . . but we still insist it's not so simple as "going to Quigley's or the bank," as Betty merrily chirps in a comment to the koin. . . . How about giving the girls a hand when the varsity coed debate team meets Swarthmore on the war debt question Friday night? . . . must have been an interesting lecture on "Planning Picnics" a la Vinnie Barrows. . . . a bouquet for the William Crane Johnstone informal fireside gathering of the International Relations Club. . . . Harry Frantz of the United Press spoke at the affair. . . . unique ideas on the part of Raymond Sherman Smith, who originated a "drug garden" for the amusement and instruction of his prospective pharmacologists. . . . bouquets to the activity of the Troubadour Trio on its radio schedule. . . . bouquets to the "person or persons responsible for the big black 'Mids' which succeeded in putting Dick Rollo under the table for the better part of a perfect Sunday night. . . . (something his colleagues have been trying to accomplish for months) and was Rollo's face white! . . . Betty WILL write the Hatchet exam. . . .

CHIPS

By popular demand—The proceeds of the Raspberry did not buy Rollo those new cerise trousers; it went to the general coffers of the Interfraternity Council. . . . Betty Rollo may collect her 70c (minus 10 per cent editing fees to Friday) for her two columns of tripe by applying to Bain, Van Demark, etc. . . . Hundreds have applied for membership in "Depression Iota You," new campus frat. No dues, no fees, no house, no rules, no meetings, no handshake, and you don't need to worry about a pin because there is no pin—it's the new deal in fraternalism. . . . It was the case of the pot calling the kettle black (very black) when Bain and Billings tangled verbally over that delicate clique question in this Student Council hearing. . . . The long and short of the evening, Margaret Liebler dancing with Professor Ragatz—paste that in your memory book. . . . Mrs. Phillips, physical ed. student, avers that after 30 years' search, she has found the soul. She may publish it for her Master's. . . . No more secrecy for coeds. . . . Mrs. Barrows invited Mary Lee Watkins to her last tea—to wash cups. . . . Apparently Vinnie G. hasn't forgotten that apple core that dropped on her from a Zeta Tau Alpha window. . . . Jane Caskey is the Imperial Concubine, if Homer Engle (Wu), who so translated her name into Chinese, is to be relied upon. . . . Yes, Miss Hodgkins, those sure are fine looking nails you have today. . . . Charley Bell has been appointed society editor of The Hatchet—since his moustache has reached puberty. . . . John Schriber comes to school in cowboy boots—he hides them beneath his trousers. . . . Buddy Rogers' recent stage partner has returned that Delt pin to Murray Watts—his name. Reason: She said she was going to Senator Copeland's tea, but the person he saw her roadster with wasn't looking very senatorial. . . . Elsa Mehlhorn and Sammy Walker continue to hatch plots or something in the corners in rhetoric class. . . . Zeta Tau Alpha now stamps the date upon the back of each man's hand as he passes the gate. Any man who is not branded is known to have crashed the gate—they made certain that Eddie Parleton was branded as he went through. . . . Miss Weedan, history student par excellence, must pick other places than Prof. Langorus' quiz to saw the babies' booties. . . . According to Betty, it was a great idea of the K. D.'s to entertain the national inspector at Kendall Green; critical remarks won't be overheard and repeated at Gallaudet. . . . We understand that Ruth Warren's answer to "No Cornsages" for the Panhel prom is "No!"—Plutocrat! . . . P. Pappas grabbed the 10 slugs offered by the new sinker and slush joint which opens this week with the name "Colonial Coffee Shop" (not shoppe). . . . Fesler eats free for a week as runner-up with "The Next." . . . Dere Betty—Yes, you are invited to contribute to the Peticoat in spite of your subtlety. The editors won't mind, as ignorance is bliss—Yes, no one could help but notice "In Fashion" Dille at the Panhel scrip dance in a very blue beret, vivid pink-checked blouse, dark blue skirt, beige hose, black slippers, red cheeks, and vermilion fingernails—Just a little Buy American propaganda—A couple of boos as Rollo will attend the Panhel prom with his "Barb" date from Interfraternity—A Hatchet exam has been sent to you by general delivery; get it at the p. d. and follow instructions. . . . They say that Buster "Blondie" Cravatt uses an hour each night at bedtime marcelling that crowning glory of hissen. . . . It is rumored that Judy Watson in the bursar's office is engaged to that Fitz Ball creature. . . . DID YOU SEE: Fesler at a recent dance in a two-tone gray suit, 1927 pants and 1932 coat?—Professor Churchill in a natty English sack with a tasty sunburst cravat?—Billie Given in a suit with pants?—Les Gates with the latest thing in pink tooth brushes? . . . A little cheer and pleasant dreams. . . . Au revoir. Yours in Fashion, DICK ROLLO.

Did You Know That . . .

The recent payment of $50,000 on the pledge of the Scottish Rite of the Southern Jurisdiction raises the total of the University endowment funds to $2,061,260.43, according to Mr. Charles W. Holmes, comptroller of the University. The Scottish Rite Endowment is a fund of $1,000,000 created December 27, 1927, by the Supreme Council of the Thirty-third degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry of the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States of America, for the purpose of organizing and developing a School of Government at The George Washington University. The income only is to be used.

With the issuance of the March number of "Current History," the magazine of world affairs published by the New York Times, Dean Henry Gratton Doyle will have completed five years of service as associate on Latin America affairs on the editorial staff of the publication. During this time Dean Doyle has contributed about a quarter of a million words to the magazine in his monthly chapter on contemporary history in the Latin American field. He will continue his association with the magazine.

George Washington University students majoring in public speaking often act as judges of debate and oratorical contests at high schools in and around Washington. Last Friday evening, Genevieve Wimsatt and Arthur Murphy judged the debate between Central High and Baltimore City College, which was held at Central High. For three years, Miss Wimsatt was on the women's intercollegiate debate team while an undergraduate. She is now working on her Ph. D. degree in the Department of Psychology. Mr. Murphy, a transfer from American University, is in Law School. Both of these students are members of Delta Sigma Rho.

Miss Wolfe Discusses Parliamentary Law

"Parliamentary Law" was the subject of the address given by Bertha Frances Wolfe, guest speaker of Alpha Pi Epsilon, honorary home economics fraternity, at its meeting February 15. The talk was followed by a round-table discussion on the desirability of having a course in parliamentary law at George Washington University. It was pointed out that such a course is available at most universities, and is included in the curriculum here, would be well attended. Miss Wolfe is an outstanding member of Columbian Women and holds classes in parliamentary law and its procedure at the Women's City Club and Y. W. C. A.

NOTES ON COLLEGIATE ACTIVITIES

Phi Pi Epsilon Hears Madame Boncesco

Mme. George Boncesco, wife of the financial counselor to the Rumanian legation, was the guest speaker last Tuesday evening at the February speaker meeting of Phi Pi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity for women.

Speaking informally on Rumania of today, Mme. Boncesco discussed many interesting phases of life in her native country, including marriage customs, education, gypsy life, the modernization of Rumania, and the effect of the World War on the country. Her talk was augmented by a fine display of Rumanian needlework, and numerous pictures showing native dress and houses.

Mrs. John Donaldson was hostess. Other guests were Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. Alice Henning, Mrs. Lowell Joseph Ragatz, Mrs. Daniel Buchanan, and Mrs. Norman T. Anderson.

Fraternity Discusses Farmers' Problems

"Farm Relief" was the topic around which the regular round table conference session of the Commerce and Economics fraternity centered Monday, February 13.

Mortgage relief, the present seed loan plan of crop production, and the domestic allotment plan of farm relief were discussed by Charles Trammel, Don Charles Candland, and Robert Beach, respectively. Nelson Barnhart was chairman.

Dr. Joseph S. Zucker, of the economics department, will address the fraternity at the next meeting to be held on Monday, February 27, at Lambie House.

Education Club to Hear Dr. Harold Warner

Dr. Harold E. Warner, principal of Hine Junior High School, will discuss "Education Cafeteria Style in Curriculum," at the meeting of the Education Club on Thursday, February 23, at 8 p. m., in Lambie House.

Some of the interesting trends in modern education which he will discuss are along the lines of creative expression, guidance, sex education, mental hygiene, the development of a social service philosophy, credit for out-of-door work and extension of supervision in the college.

Dr. Warner, who is a graduate of George Washington, is also president of the Education Association of the District of Columbia, and is conducting a class at American University in modern tendencies in education theory and practice.

History Teaching Aspects Subject of Lecture

"The Technique and Practical Aspect of Teaching History" was discussed by Miss Irene Rice, of the Western High School faculty, before the members of the Charles Swisher Historical Society last Thursday.

After the lecture, plans were discussed for a bridge party. All students interested in history are invited to join this club.

"Otta" Zahn's nose trouble following his collision with Vince Carlin in the Loyola game last Thursday night was bad enough by itself. . . . But the last time he broke his schnozzle the doctor failed to set it properly, which caused all manner of complications when he was operated on by the G. W. medical Friday was a tough day for "Otta," but he weathered the storm and he'll probably be in shape for the C. C. N. Y. encounter tomorrow night.

Saturday night the fans got their first glimpse of the new Colonial uniforms purchased to use particularly in the Garden Charity Show. . . . They sure dazzled St. John's. . . . And why not? The red, white and blue will be very appropriate for George Washington's Birthday, as well as representing quite adequately the University named for the "Father of His Country."

Figures released by P. A. Jack Espey show some interesting things. . . . Although now ineligible, Wick Parrack's 180 points scored in the first 10 games keep him second to Burgess in individual scoring on the team. . . . But his relief, Jimmy Howell, has rolled on past Wick and with two more games to play, may pass Burgess. . . . Forrest, ineligible against Southern competition, has missed three games, but gets a hot hand often enough to keep out in front.

That mammoth Memorial Hall court at V. P. I. almost scared O'Leary's boys to death when they first saw it last Tuesday night. . . . But they soon recovered and held on to grasp a closely contested game. . . . The playing space on the Virginians' court is almost as big as the entire floor of the "tin tabernacle." . . . And incidentally Bus Hall, Gobbler leader who tallied 22 points, is just about the classiest individual basketballer that the Colonials have run up against this year.

Catholic U. closed its basketball campaign with a spectacular 46-47 last-second victory over Loyola in Baltimore on February 11. . . . The Cards trailed all the way, too, and just managed to score the winning margin as the game ended. . . . Quite a contrast to our two decisive victories over the Marylanders—55-41 and 62-36. . . . This same Vince Carlin who gave Zahn and the Colonials so much trouble, proved to be the thorn in the offense of C. U. also. . . . Loyola roughed it just as much with the Cardinals as they did with G. W. Their reputation for that sort of thing is spreading. . . . Bus Sheary, outstanding athlete at the Brookland school, sang his swan song in that game.

We watch with interest from the

William and Mary
Sunk by NatatorsScore Is 45-21 as Colonials
Place First in Six Out of Seven Events

A shattered tank record and a 45-21 victory over William and Mary College marked the Buff and Blue swim engagement at the Ambassador pool last Friday night. Dyer Ghormley, Colonial breaststroke ace, clipped off the 200-yard breaststroke in 2 minutes 50.4-5 seconds to set a new record for the Ambassador pool. The old record was 2 minutes 51.2-5 seconds.

By consistent swimming, G. W.'s mermen copped first place in every event until the last encounter, when Casey, a William and Mary diving star, and former New England scholastic diving champion, took the fancy-diving honor. George Washington placed first in six out of a possible seven events and second in four out of a possible six events. The 200-yard relay was won by McMullan, Vedder, Ghormley, and Rote, of G. W., in 1:37 4-5.

Those tankmen that represented the Buff and Blue were: Captain Rote, Ghormley, Burnside, Vartia, Hain, Kinsler, McMullan, Vedder and Bonner. Summaries:

300-YARD RELAY—Won by George Washington (McMullan, Vedder, Ghormley and Rote). Time, 1:37 4-5.

50-YARD DASH—Won by Rote (G. W.); second, Ghormley (G. W.); third, Flickinger (W. M.). Time, 0:24 2-5.

440-YARD DASH—Won by Burnside (G. W.); second, Vartia (G. W.); third, Dragen (W. M.). Time, 5:15 2-5.

160-YARD BACK STROKE—Won by Hain (G. W.); second, McMullan (G. W.); third, Gordon (W. M.). Time, 1:56 4-5.

200-YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Ghormley (G. W.); second, Wallach (W. M.); third, Kinsler (G. W.). Time, 2:50 4-5.

100-YARD DASH—Won by Vedder (G. W.); second, McMullan (G. W.); third, Bray (W. M.). Time, 1:31 4-5.

FANCY DIVING—Won by Casey (W. M.); second, Mead (G. W.); third, Bonner (G. W.).

After the Duke-George Washington meet at the Ambassador pool next Friday night, the G. W. swimmers will close their long season under the direction of Coach Lyman, Captain Rote, and Manager Margolis.

MANAGERS WANTED

Coach Jean Sexton, in charge of intramurals, announces that there are six managerial positions open for the coming intramural baseball series. The league is composed of representatives of Columbian College, the Junior College, the Pharmacy School, the Law School, the Engineering College, and the Pre-Med.

Managers must be enrolled in the school whose team they are to manage. Applicants apply to Sexton in the gymnasium.

HOWELL OUTSTANDING

Loyola and St. John's Defeated in Easy Victories; Zahn
Injured

Winning three games in as many starts last week, the Colonials brought their season's basketball record to 14 victories in 18 games. Last year's record of 11 wins in 15 games was thrust rudely aside as the Pixlee-coached five went on to new heights in trouncing Virginia Poly, Loyola, and St. John's of Annapolis on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday respectively.

With two more games to play, this quint may establish a mark for future teams to shoot at with a record of 16 triumphs in a 20-game schedule.

In defeating St. John's on Saturday evening for the second time in this campaign the fine play of Johnny Fenlon was the big surprise when he contributed 9 points to his team's 46-22 triumph. Subbing for the injured Colonial captain, Fenlon turned in a fine all-round performance and capably filled this vacancy.

Starting slowly, George Washington was unable to score in the opening minutes as the Saints got away to a 5-0 lead. Soon, however, Fenlon, Chambers, and Burgess began to locate the hoop and mid-way of the first half the visitors took time-out with G. W. in the van 11-6. With the resumption of play, the Colonials increased their advantage gradually and at intermission led 21-10.

Second Squad Enters

The second half saw the winners push steadily ahead, although their play was distinctly better than the Johnnies' offense considerably slower. Coach Pixlee began to send in the subs gradually when the count stood at 38-16, but the second squad played the visitors on even terms.

Outside of being nothing more than a rough and tumble affair, particularly in the second half, the Loyola game featured a mix-up between "Otta" Zahn and Vince Carlin in which the former received a broken nose. Typical of the contest, this scrimmage proved costly to George Washington. The final count of 62-36 necessitated more rough and wild playing than any victory achieved to date.

Howell, Carlin Score 16

Jimmy Howell, vying with Carlin of the visitors for scoring honors with 16 points, continued his fine form of the past two weeks and was just a trifle too fast for the Loyola guards. Opening slowly, the Colonials garnered a 19-11 advantage after the first ten minutes and increased it to 29-15 at half.

Meeting a representative of V. P. I. for the first time in several years, the Colonials journeyed down to Blacksburg and took the long end of a 43-40 score. In the packed Memorial Hall gym, G. W. was almost caught in a whirlwind last minute rally as the Virginians swept down the floor and came within one point of tying the score with a second to go. Howell came through with a neat snowbird as the final whistle blew, to put George Washington three points ahead.

At the half O'Leary's boys were leading, 31-20, and the going had been fairly easy. But Bus Hall, Gobbler star, in two individual spurts, accounted for 12 points alone, totaling 22 for the evening and showing the Colonial guards the deadliest eye they've met to date.

With the count at 38-30, Hall tallied three times in a row and the V. P. I. fans sensed a victory. Seaman put the home team a single point behind with a nifty side shot. At this time Howell netted his saving shot and George Washington supporters breathed freely again as the timer's gun ended the game.

Colonial Rifle Team
Takes First Match
From Va. Polytech

Having defeated Virginia Polytechnic Institute's crack shots, 1,338 to 1,318, in their first seasonal N. R. A. telegraphic league match, the Colonial riflers have started their climb from second to first place in the intercollegiate league. Individual totals for the Buff and Blue marksmen were: Cross, 271; Neal, 270; Schmidt, 268; Brightenburgh, 265; Laudman, 264. Total, 1,338.

V. M. I. shoots here Friday in G. W.'s first seasonal shoulder-shoulder match. Georgetown and Maryland universities also compete against V. M. I. on the same date. Other practice shoulder-shoulder shoots are being arranged with both the Naval Academy and Maryland University by Frank P. Marano, manager.

The second telegraphic shoot was held Saturday against Western Maryland, but final scores have not been received.

Coach Parsons has been compelled to construct this year's team from new material, as Captain Brightenburgh and Manager Marano are the only veteran riflemen remaining in school.

Squared Circle Has Successful Meeting

Under the direction of Harry Kleiman, the newly formed Squared Circle held its second meeting last Saturday. About 25 men turned out for the boxing club and worked out for a short while under the tutelage of Kleiman and his new assistant, Max Jeweler. The tutors expressed themselves as well satisfied with the progress of the club to date.

Included among Kleiman's pupils and associates have been several of the football lights of both varsity and freshman squads. Many of the men, however, are totally inexperienced and fight in the lighter weights.

Kleiman wishes to call attention to the new meeting hours of the club and to again invite all interested to attend on Monday, 4 to 5 p. m., and Saturday, 10:30 to 12 noon.

Upsets have begun to play their accustomed part in the interfraternity bowling series, as witnessed by the second round matches last Saturday night. Phi Sigma Kappa, showing a complete reversal of form, swept aside the defending champions, Kappa Sigma, three games to none, to place itself in a second place tie in league standing. Sigma Mu Sigma, in League B, established itself as a threat to the leaders by taking three games from Theta Delta Chi, running up a total pinfall of 1,557. Baldwin's set of 341, and Sigma Mu Sigma's game of 535, enabled the team to take most of the evening's honors.

Although having a lower total pinfall than last week, Delta Tau Delta and T. U. O. continued to hold the lead in their respective leagues. The Deltas, in winning two out of three, were pre-

Meeting much stronger competition than expected, the frosh quint battled desperately to pull themselves from behind in the last quarter but went down 33-35 to Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School on Wednesday, February 16.

Walsh's men had expected to take the contest without much trouble, but led by their crack forward, Nichols, who topped the scoring with 14 points, the visitors would not be denied. Leemans with 10 and Kane with 9 points showed well for the frosh.

Mike Martin Speaks
To Education ClassTalks on Athletic Injuries and Safeguards Necessary in Training

Mike Martin, veteran trainer of the Washington Baseball Club, addressed Jean Sexton's physical education class on "Athletic Injury," Thursday afternoon in J-23. Using his many years of practical experience as a background, Martin spoke at length on the various phases of training a baseball team. In turn he took up the questions of preliminary workouts, first stages of training, necessity of taking care of the throwing arm, diet, regular habits, and treatment of particular injuries.

Stressing the fact that a ball player's life and success depend on his pitching arm, the man who has rolled the kinks out of some of the professional game's greatest performers, warned the students that particular care of the arm in spring practice is necessary. "I have seen some of the game's outstanding young prospects ruined because they couldn't resist the temptation to 'open up' before getting into perfect condition," Martin said.

Well, that's something about cigarettes
I never knew before the cigarette that's Milder

the cigarette that Tastes Better

I'd never thought much about what's inside a Chesterfield cigarette. But I have just been reading something that made me think about it.

Just think of this, some of the tobacco in Chesterfield—the Turkish—comes from 4000 miles away! And before it is shipped every single leaf is packed by hand. All because Turkish tobacco is so small and delicate.

Of course I don't know much about making cigarettes, but I do know this—that Chesterfields are milder and have a very pleasing aroma and taste. They satisfy—and that's what counts with me!

Calendar Announces Formals by Chi Omega, T. U. O., S. A. E., Kappa Sigma For Washington's Birthday This Week

Co-eds Attend Mid-winter Dances at V. M. I. Over Last Week End

George Washington's birthday approaches and with it more and more dances. We find that the week's calendar includes formals given by T. U. O., S. A. E., Chi Omega, and Kappa Sigma, promising a varied program to interested students.

T. U. O. and S. A. E. to Give Dances Tuesday

T. U. O. is giving a dance Tuesday night, February 21, at the chapter house in honor of the new initiates. Music will be furnished by Emory Daugherty's band. S. A. E. also will celebrate the eve of George Washington's birthday with a dance for which Jerry Free will play.

The Chi Omega pledges plan to entertain the actives at a formal dance at the Bethesda Women's Club, Friday, February 24.

On February 25, Kappa Sigma will hold an informal dance at the house, featuring a George Washington motif in decoration. The Silver Crescents will play for the occasion.

Kappa Alpha held an informal dance at the chapter house on Saturday, February 18. Music was furnished by Dagmoir. Among the many guests were members of the Johns Hopkins Chapter of Baltimore and men of the University whom they are rushing.

Alpha Epsilon Phi is giving a dollar dance in Corcoran Hall Friday evening, February 24.

Kappa Delta Initiates Eight Girls

The initiation ceremonies of Kappa Delta fraternity were held Sunday, February 19. The eight neophytes who passed the final requirements for membership were: Mary Cox, Mildred Draper, Carrie Roper Fulton, Hortense Gifford, Josephine Kehoe, Clementina Lawrie, Catherine Tullis, and Edith Williams.

Phi Delta announces the formal initiation of Ethel Bailey, Mildred Cecil, and Roberta Young, February 12.

T. U. O. announces the formal initiation of James Luther Phelps, Edmund

Phi Epsilon Pi announces the pledging of Milton C. Flocks, Jr.

Sigma Kappa announces the informal pledging of Dorothy Jones Friday, February 17.

Sigma Phi Epsilon announces the pledging of Raymond Dwight Osborne, of Holyoke, Mass.

Alpha Pi chapter of Alpha Delta Pi announces the informal pledging of Katherine Kramer, Saturday, February 18.

Delta Zeta announces the formal pledging of Marion Wormser on Sunday afternoon, February 19. The ceremony was followed by a tea at the home of Virginia Gummel.

Phi Delta announces the formal pledging of Dorothy Greene, Mildred Becker, and Irene Church, on February 1, and Gladys Fowler on February 13.

Zeta Tau Alpha announces the informal pledging of Helen Martin on Friday, February 17.

Phi Alpha Entertains In Honor of Prominent Member

The Phi Alpha fraternity, Alpha chapter, entertained last Sunday night, February 19, with a radio dance at the house in honor of Bobby Goldstein, national intercollegiate featherweight boxing champion, and captain of the University of Virginia boxing team. Goldstein just returned from winning a bout against the Naval Academy. Eight other University of Virginia fraternities were also welcomed.

A subscription card party was held by Phi Delta on Wednesday, February 15.

Phi Epsilon Pi announces that Frank Luchs, formerly of the Pennsylvania chapter, is now affiliated with the Alpha Mu chapter.

The Cercle Francais Universitaire held a rush tea Sunday, February 19, in the Alpha Delta Pi rooms.

A bridge luncheon at the rooms provided a gay afternoon for Delta Zetas and rushees on Saturday, February 18.

Co-eds Attend Mid-winter Festivities at V. M. I.

Ruth White, Dolly Tschiffely, Marian Boyle, Ann Burger, and Evelyn Kerr spent the week end in Lexington, Va., where they attended the mid-winter formals at V. M. I. On returning, they visited at Randolph-Macon and the University of Virginia.

Ann Parker spent the week end of February 10 in Richmond, where she attended the dances at the University of Richmond.

Jerry Embrey spent the week end of February 11 in New York.

Mary Crain went up to West Point for the week end during February 12.

Mrs. James Nash, formerly Mary Knappe, visited in Washington last week.

Pledges of Delta Zeta furnished entertainment for actives and alumnae on Monday evening, February 13, in the form of a very clever goat show, which included a radio program and shadow acting, all being take-offs on the actives. Following this, the pledges were rewarded in their turn.

Pi Beta Phi Installs Chapter At Duke University

Pi Beta Phi installed a new chapter at Duke University, Durham, N. C. The ceremonies took place February 16, 17, and 18.

District of Columbia Alpha actives who attended the installation were Kitty Pritchard, Betty Rose, Monta Ruediger, Jean Kirkwood, Jean Fly, Madeline Yonkers, Jane Edwards,

Famous Ladies Still Discuss Style Trend

"Beth, that dress is very becoming," said the Empress Josephine to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, as they chatted together on a shelf in the Home Economics building.

"That color does look well with your hair," agreed the Empress Eugenie, as she adjusted her feathered hat vampishly over one eye. "I like plain shades so much better than flowered material, such as that upstairs, Martha Washington, is wearing."

Such choice bits of conversation may be heard most any evening on the second floor of Building C, as many famous ladies discuss the age-old topic of what the other woman is wearing. These characters have been brought to life again in the forming of dolls dressed by Catherine Towne's costume design class, and form a gay display of period styles.

Miss Towne plans to exhibit the collection which is being added to by her students every year. Maybe some bright scholar will have an inspiration and dress Eve in time for the exhibit.

Katherine Crane, Virginia Pope, Betsy Garrett, and Jean Lilly.

Mrs. Frank M. Gentry, of New York, the grand secretary of Alpha Delta Theta, was in Washington last week end, and was entertained at luncheon by the local officers.

Myrta Williams entertained at a luncheon bridge in honor of the Phi Mus on Saturday, February 18.

The pledges of Kappa Delta presented their goat show at 8 o'clock on February 18.

Zeta Tau Alpha gave a buffet supper at the home of Mary Lee Watkins, Sunday, February 19.

The Sigma Kappas held a jig-saw puzzle party at the home of Marian Rittenour on Wednesday night, February 15.

Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained at a tea for Margaret Clark on March 16 at Jane Rhodes' home.

T. U. O. Gives Annual Founders' Day Banquet

Theta Upsilon Omega held its eleventh Founders' Day banquet Thursday night, February 16, at 8:30, at the Kennedy-Warren. Professor Elmer Louis Kayser presided as toastmaster.

Delta Zeta and rushees enjoyed a progressive dinner on Wednesday, February 15, at the homes of Frances MacMaugh, Carolyn Becker, Louise Shoemaker, and Betty Brown.

Mrs. Winnie G. Barrows was entertained at dinner in the Sigma Kappa rooms Monday, February 12.

Kappa Beta Pi, international legal sorority, announces the formal initiation of Grace White, Wilma Van Deeman, and Katherine Markwell. Initiation was followed by an informal evening at the home of Beatrice Clephane in Chevy Chase. Alumnae guests included Helen Newman, registrar and librarian of the George Washington Law School; Elizabeth Cox; and Harriet Buckingham.

Alpha Epsilon Iota, the women's medical national fraternity, pledged the following on February 10, 1933: Isabel Bittenger, Irma Belk, Dr. Mary Holmes, Agnes McNutt, and Catherine Weller. Dr. Margaret Nicolson gave a short talk on internships.

The Phi Alpha fraternity, Alpha chapter, entertained Armand Kaplan, president of the William and Mary Interfraternity Council, over last week end.

Women Faculty Members Give Informal Luncheon

Women members of the George Washington University faculty held an informal luncheon in the dining room of the American Association of University Women on Wednesday, February 15.

First Round Played In Basketball Contest

Junior and Sophomore Women Victorious in Interclass Tournament

The first round of the interclass basketball tournament scheduled by the Women's Physical Education Department resulted in victories for the junior and sophomore teams. The junior basketers swamped the seniors to the tune of 30-18, while the sophomores won a more closely contested game from the freshmen with a score of 18-13.

At the end of the first quarter of the junior-senior game the score stood at a 3-3 tie, but the junior team took a long lead over their upperclass opponents in the second period, and the half ended at 13-9 in their favor. Throughout the second half, the cooperation given her by Kitty Fox, right forward, maintained this lead, and the game ended with 30 points for the juniors against 18 for the seniors.

Although the first period of the sophomore-freshman contest ended 6-1 in favor of the former team, the freshmen made a comeback in the second quarter and at the end of the half claimed a one-point lead. At the end of the third period, the score was tied 13-13. The final quarter was hard fought, and it was only through the steady playing of Mary Haley and Florence Grady, sophomore forwards, that the upperclass team claimed victory, at the final whistle, with a count of 18-13.

The second round of this tournament is scheduled for 7:30 tonight, when the juniors will meet the freshmen and the seniors will play the sophomores.

Did You See?

Selma Felsner in Professor Kearn's Sociology class in a sports dress of hunter's green crepe and a brown coat with bell sleeves banded in tan, blue and green. A brown hat and brown shoes made the ensemble an attractive one.

Platonis Papps at The Hatchet examination in a black velvet Sunday night dress with a collar of white beads. The back was slit from the collar part way down the back. With this she wore a white turban making a lovely symphony of black and white.

Louise Wright at the publications office in a royal blue flat crepe dress trimmed with a tricky scarf of blue and white checks, and dark blue suede slippers.

Christine Spignul at Club Michel in a black crepe dress with a white top, cowl-necked and with tiny ruffles on the puffed sleeves. A little black hat perched over the right eye and black moire sandals completed the outfit.

Edith Grosvenor about the campus in a soft brown angora sports dress with a high rolled neck, brown strapped slippers and a small brown, veiled hat.

Evelyn Eller doing a bit of secretary work for Rollo in a black crepe dress with two huge ruffles of white organza around the neck and sleeves. Black pumps of dull leather added to the fetching picture she presented.

Yours in fashion,

DILLE.

Juniors, Freshmen Win in Volley Ball

First Games in Interclass Tournament Played; Team Captains Elected

Junior and freshman volleyball teams defeated their upperclass opponents in the first game of the series of interclass contests being run off this month. The juniors piled up 36 points against 24 for the seniors, while the freshmen scored 46 to the sophomores' 28. The games were played February 14 in the old church on H street.

Preceding the play, elections of captains for each team were held. Virginia Gummel was chosen to pilot the senior team, while Rhoda Blose for the juniors, Mildred Loveless for the sophomores, and Anna Koons for the freshmen were honored with the other captaincies.

Playing for the seniors were Grace Haley, Mary Louise Braselton, Marian Rittenour, Jean Sandidge, Dorothy Wilson, and Virginia Gummel. The junior team was composed of Miriam Casteel, Rhoda Blose, Cordelia Baldwin, Helen Mitchell, Elizabeth Middlemas, Ruth Young, and Martha Myers. On the sophomore team were Frances Douglass, Elinore Grollman, Florence Brill, Alicia Mooney, Mildred Loveless, and Jane Hughes. The freshmen were represented by Anna Koons, Dorothy Detwiler, Anne Hill, Mary Ireland, Frances Wright, Marjorie Sehorn, and Mary Cox.

Interclass matches will be continued this week when the juniors meet the freshmen and the seniors play the sophomores Thursday night. The games are scheduled for 7:30 p. m. in the old church on H street.

Beauty School

by Helena Rubinstein

Noted Beauty Authority

Everything is done scientifically nowadays, but even yet there are good cooks who, when asked for a certain recipe, will say, "Oh, I just take a little of this, and a little of that"—but to follow the directions is never easy.

Ask the girl who has charm and she will say the same thing. "A little of this," she will tell you, "and a little of that," but the mixing—the turn of the wrist, the dash of piquancy that makes all the difference—she leaves to you. With charm there's no recipe. There are many ingredients and every mixture is different.

You have been told often that every girl must be her own type; that neatness and good grooming are more important than the color of the hair; that good looks, as we know them nowadays, are mostly a question of wanting and working. But that isn't quite enough, I hear you say. What we want is charm—"little odds and ends of charm." How I would like to give to each special one of you, your own special recipe, but it can't be done.

One thing I can tell you, though I've told you before. The most successful women I know are those who capitalized their own charming selves according to their own charming patterns. And—while I know you are tired of the trite old phrase about beauty coming from within, we can't discount the truth just because it happens to have on a stupid frock and there's truth in the time-worn phrase. There's charm in poise, in an eager, interested face, a ready smile, a pleasant voice, in kindness and simplicity—spiritual qualities, yes. But they are part of the 'this and that' qualities of charm that may be yours.

Is your skin dull and sallow? Spend more time on the campus, take more advantage of opportunities for exercise, outdoors and in. Every morning after a few minutes of setting-up exercises, apply a skin-clearing cream to face and neck and leave on while you bathe and dress. Pat on a toning lotion to close the pores and tone the skin. Do this every morning and watch your skin grow clearer, your cheeks pinker, sallowness and sluggishness disappearing as by magic. Next week I'll tell you how to make the most of your outstanding features.

New Books Added To Library Stacks

Changes in Library Staff Announced; Schmidt Delivers Lectures

Recently, many new books of merit have been added to the George Washington University Library. Some of the outstanding books are listed below with the author, title, publisher, and date.

Blankenship, Russel: "American Literature," Holt, 1931.

Chinard, G.: "Thomas Jefferson," Little, Brown, 1932.

Bossuat, Robt.: "Le Moyen Age," Paris, Gignard, 1931.

Schlesinger, A. M.: "Rise of the City," Macmillan, 1933.

Hill, A. V.: "Adventures in Biophysics," University of Pennsylvania, 1932.

Adrian, E. D.: "Mechanism of Nervous Action," University of Pennsylvania, 1932.

Jeffers, Robinson: "Thurso's Landing and other poems," Liveright, 1932.

Frost, Robert: "Collected Poems," Random House, 1930.

Strachey, Lytton: "Books and Characters," Chatto, 1922.

Gray, L. C.: "History of Agriculture in Southern United States to 1880," Carnegie Institution, 1933.

Committee on the Cost of Medical Care, Publications Nos. 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22. University of Chicago.

President's Research Committee on Social Trends: "Recent Social Trends in the United States," McGraw Hill, 1933. Two Vols. (2 sets).

There have been several changes in the staff of the library. J. Russell Mason, associate librarian, is studying at Columbia University this semester.

Mrs. Delight Roth, who was working for her A. B. last semester, is back again in the library.

Alfred F. W. Schmidt, director of the Division of Library Science, has delivered several lectures since the beginning of the semester. He addressed the Newman Club on, "Famous Monastic Libraries," and spoke to the Book Club of the Unitarian Church on "Travel Experience in Europe."

Alpha Chi Sigma Will Hold Smoker at Hamilton Saturday

At a meeting held last Saturday evening at the Ray-Adams House, Alpha Chi Sigma, men's professional chemical fraternity, decided to hold a smoker next Saturday evening, February 25, at the Hamilton Hotel. Benjamin Douglass Van Evers, assistant professor of chemistry, will be the speaker of the evening.

The smoker will be the second rush party of the fraternity during the second semester. After the smoker a buffet supper will be served. The entire event is under the supervision of Charles A. Kinser, the fraternity's recently elected master of ceremonies. About 50 members of Alpha Chi Sigma are expected to attend.

sented with a chance for a clean sweep, by tying in the second game. S. P. E., however, mustering up a sudden spurt, won the roll-off. T. U. O. took S. A. E. for two games, weakening in the third to lose by a large margin.

Sigma Nu continued to share second place in League A by defeating Sigma Chi, two games to one. Fletcher's set of 333 was high for the winners. Lerch of the Siga was high man with a 126 game. Kappa Alpha rolled into a third place tie with S. P. E., taking two games from Acadia. Phillips' 126 game was high.

The caliber of the second-round rolling was considerably lower than that of last week, but furnished a line on the prospects of the various teams. The bunching of the teams in League A is closer than that of League B; but with several rounds yet to be rolled, there is still room for upsets.

University Societies, Clubs Come and Go

Have you heard anything about the Styx Club, the University Press Club, the George Washington Club, or the Y. W. C. A. Club recently?

Probably not, for these clubs belong to the past and are preserved to memory only through the pages of the 1927 Cherry Tree.

Although there were only 18 clubs in 1927 as compared with 33 this year, there were many novel clubs then which do not exist at present.

Among these were the ominous Styx Club, a secret society of men symbolized by crossbones and skull, the University Press Club, the George Washington Club composed of women winning sports letters, and the Y. W. C. A. Club, with 10 cabinet members.

There was also the Women's George Washington Club, whose aims were the "coordination of women's sports in the University, arousing of alumni interest and support, and the arousing of further interest and enthusiasm of the women in the University."

Professors Will Be Guests At Tau Epsilon Phi Banquet

Dr. Elmer Louis Kayser, professor of history, and Dr. Walter Jaeger, of the University of Maryland, will be the guests of honor at the first annual Founders' Day banquet of the George Washington chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity, which will be held in the main ballroom of the Hamilton Hotel tonight at 8 o'clock. Toastmaster Brown Venesky, former George Washington football player and Law School graduate, has announced that a dance will be held after the banquet, with Bobby Ford's colored masters of synchronization playing from 10 until 2 a. m.

Tickets for the inaugural ball, March 4, in the Washington Auditorium, are available at the Bursar's office, Building F, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Tickets are $5.

Hatchet Staff Crews Must See Managers

New System of Handling Assignments Goes Into Effect This Week

Beginning this week a new system of handling Hatchet assignments will be in effect. Those reporters retained after the recent examination have been divided into groups, and have received regular assignments which are posted on the bulletin board in The Hatchet office.

All sport assignments and any supplementary assignments will be posted each week on the bulletin board on a "Special Assignment" sheet.

Each group of reporters will be in charge of a member of the senior staff. Reporters will keep in touch with these group managers regarding their assignments; if there is no news available, a report must be made to the manager to that effect.

All copy is due at noon on Friday unless otherwise specified. Failure to meet this requirement may result in suspension from the staff.

There will be a "contact man" in the office on Wednesday and Friday afternoons to assist in effecting the organization and smooth working of the groups.

Newman Club to Entertain Catholics at Informal Party

The Newman Club invites all the Catholic students of the University and their friends to an informal get-together party and dance, Tuesday evening, February 28, at the Hayloft Club, 1326 Massachusetts avenue, at 8 p. m.

This is one of a series of informal parties that the Newman Club is giving in order to get the Catholic students of George Washington University socially acquainted.

There will be card playing for those who do not dance, and refreshments for all.

Hagenbuch Honored At Lutheran Confab

John Hagenbuch, treasurer of the George Washington University Lutheran Club, was elected vice president of the North Atlantic region of the Lutheran Student Association of America, at the fourteenth annual conference of that association held at Susquehanna College, Selinsgrove, Pa., February 17-19.

Prof. Raymond J. Seeger, of the physics department, was elected advisor to the association. He and Mrs. Seeger chaperoned the G. W. delegation, consisting of Marian Fowler, John Albert, Verna Mohagen, Dorothy Eck, John Hagenbuch, and Carolyn Becker.

There were approximately 100 delegates representing the 26 colleges whose Lutheran clubs are members of the association. Among the more prominent colleges sending delegates were Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Columbia, Penn State, Temple, University of Maryland and Lehigh.

Baths a Luxury in French Schools Two Centuries Ago

"Pupils are entitled to have one set of underclothing, one pair of stockings, and two handkerchiefs per month. Towels: One every week. Foot baths: One a month. Complete baths: Three a year (May, June, July). Pupils unable to take their baths on the appointed day must wait until the following month."

The above statement came to light recently in a copy of a college catalogue published about 200 years ago at one of the schools for the daughters of nobility at St. Cyr, France.

In view of the recent protest by coeds at Wellesley against compulsory showers after physical education classes, a campaign for a ruling of this sort might be in order.

Reorganization of Radio Club Is Aim of Dr. H. C. McNeil

Radio Station W3ACY, formerly owned and operated by the Radio Club, has not resumed operations this year due to the graduation of active members, according to Dr. H. C. McNeil, who is interested in resuming operations. The equipment is stored in Corcoran Hall at the present time.

This club formerly offered recreation and entertainment for radio amateurs, and any students who are interested in reorganizing it should see Dr. McNeil.

Dean Doyle to Speak Before Y. W. C. A. Group Thursday

Monroe Blake Will Get Diplomatic Post

Monroe William Blake, graduate of the School of Government at this February's convocation, has recently been placed on the list for appointment in the Consular Service of the State Department.

According to official records there are seventeen graduates of George Washington University now holding diplomatic or consular positions on every continent with the exception of Africa. Four of these are Consuls General officiating at Montreal, Singapore, Vancouver, and Guayaquil.

Blake was born in St. Paul, Minn. He attended the University of Michigan and the Georgetown School of Foreign Service prior to his matriculation at George Washington. At the time of his placement on the list he was employed in the Division of Communications and Records of the State Department.

ILLUSION:

Josie, the lovely trapeze artist, stands upon a small platform. At the will of the magician she leaps twenty feet into the air to reach her trapeze. She uses no ropes, no ladder! A phenomenal leap for a woman . . . or a man!

EXPLANATION:

Josie didn't jump . . . she was sprung! The twenty-foot leap is not dependent on Josie's ability, but on a powerful spring mechanism hidden beneath the stage which propels the artist upward through the air. The force is so violent that the lady wears a light steel jacket which protects her from injury as she starts her astonishing leap.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED

...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

Magic has its place . . . but not in cigarette advertising.

Consider the illusion that there is a mysterious way to give cigarettes a superior "flavor."

EXPLANATION: Cigarette flavor can be controlled by adding artificial flavorings. By blending. And by the quality of tobaccos used.

Cheap, raw tobaccos can be "built up" or "fortified" by the lavish use of artificial flavorings.

Such magic, however, seldom holds the audience. Your taste finally tells you the truth.

The cigarette flavor that never stales, never varies, never loses its fresh appeal, comes from mild, ripe, fragrant, more expensive tobaccos . . . blended to bring out the full, round flavor of each type of leaf. It's the quality of the tobacco that counts!

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Because Camel actually pays millions more every year for choice tobaccos, you find in Camels an appealing mildness, a better flavor.

And Camels taste cooler because the welded Humidor Pack of three-ply, MOISTURE-PROOF cellophane keeps them fresh.

Harry Frantz Tells Ingredient of News

International Relations Club Hears of News Gathering From Journalist

"Probably, one of the most uncertain things in the world is the value of news, its changing worth being due to important events breaking just before publication which minimizes what would have been front page stories," said Mr. Harry Frantz of the United Press as he spoke before members and guests of the International Relations Club informally grouped in front of a blazing fireplace in the living room of Professor and Mrs. William Crane Johnstone last Wednesday evening.

In discussing the marketability of news, Mr. Frantz said that news of monetary value is always desired in money centers such as Chicago and New York, political information is sent to Washington, and sugar reports are eagerly received in Cuba.

The Far East, according to Mr. Frantz, is intensely eager for all kinds of news from the outside world and some of the best journalists are to be found among the Japanese people.

Explains How News Is Marketed

In explaining how news is marketed, Mr. Frantz said a short resume of the contents of a piece of news is sent to the editor located in the section of the country where, due to the nature of the news, it would have the greatest news value. The editor, knowing the interests of his readers, buys a stipulated number of words of the suggested news.

In conclusion, Mr. Frantz said the newspaper reporter, like a university professor, is a seeker of facts and an analyst, and the interpretation placed on news by the press has a wide and influential effect on world affairs.

Following Mr. Frantz' talk, Mrs. Johnstone served refreshments.

Liberal Club Starts Drive Against War With Two Meetings

Noted Speakers Will Speak At Two-Day Conference; Debate Planned

The Liberal Club is calling a two-day conference against war to be held in W-10, Thursday and Friday evenings, February 23 and 24. The club has invited a number of campus organizations and invites all students to attend the conference.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Professor Daniel Buchanan, of the economics department of the University, will address the conference on the topic, "The Far East, a Menace to World Peace," at the first session, under the chairmanship of Ben Hope, president of the club.

The second speaker of the evening will be Paul Harris, Jr., field secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War and director of the Youth Peace Council. He will speak on "The Death Racket," describing the propaganda of munitions manufacturers in stirring up international conflicts. J. B. Matthews, executive secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, an organization devoted to world peace and international good-will, will speak on "The Student and the War Danger."

Will Present Resolutions

Following the addresses, the conference will elect a resolution committee to draw up resolutions for presentation the following evening.

On Friday evening, the session will begin at 8 o'clock, when the Liberal Club and Speakers' Congress debate on the question, "Can There Be Peace Under Capitalism?" The Liberal Club, with Bill Davis and Robert Shostek will uphold the negative; David Betts and Robert Hall of the Speakers' Congress are on the affirmative side.

Concluding the conference will be the election of a student committee against war, to be composed of not more than four members of the Liberal Club, and six students representing other groups or the conference participants.

Leading the discussion on Friday evening will be two students who attended two recent student conferences at which the war question was taken up. These are Ben Hope, president of the Liberal Club and delegate to the conference held in New York City during Thanksgiving, and Alice Zucker, who attended the Student Conference Against War held in Chicago near the end of last December.

A mass meeting of several thousand youths and students will be held March 12, at the Calvary M. E. Church on Sixteenth street, to indicate the determination of the youth of the country to oppose war and international armaments competition.

This meeting, in which several church groups in Washington will participate, is being called by the Youth Peace Council.

Hawse Chosen Social Chairman by Council

George Hawse was chosen social chairman by the Interfraternity Pledge Council to handle arrangements for an informal inaugural dance which the council plans to have Friday evening, March 3, at the Sigma Nu house.

The affair will conform to the spirit of the inauguration with appropriate lighting effects and inaugural decorations. Guests will dance to the strains of Knapp-Davis' band from 10 to 1 p. m. Jack Morton will direct publicity. Invitations are available from any member of the Inaugural Publicity Committee.

WHO'S WHO On The Campus

DIOSDADO M. YAP

The recent debate between the Philippines Club and the Speakers' Congress again brought into the limelight one of the outstanding foreigners now studying at George Washington University.

Diosdado M. Yap, A. B., B. S., M. A., M. S., is a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education, under the direction of Dr. J. Orin Powers, professor of education. Yap has studied at Northwestern University, Illinois, Wisconsin, Chicago, Lewis, National and Crane College. Born 24 years ago in the Philippines, he received all his educational training in the islands and in the United States.

In addition his scholastic accomplishments, Diosdado is affiliated with a number of activities, which include: Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary forensic fraternity; Phi Sigma Delta, legal fraternity; the American Foreign Policy Association; the American Society of International Law; the American Academy of Social and Political Science; and the American Academy of World Economics.

He is a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus; president of the Visayan Circle, Inc., the largest Filipino club in the city; technical advisor to the Independence Headquarters, Filipino Federation of America, Inc.; executive secretary of the Modernist Party of the Philippines, a party composed of Filipino college men and women in the islands and in the United States. He is a life member of the National Education Association.

Yap is a prize-winning orator, having won many gold medals in oratory both in the United States and in the Philippines, and was formerly a member of the varsity debating team at a Chicago university. He has been hailed as one of the 10 greatest Filipino orators now living, and has lectured throughout the country on behalf of the Filipino Students' Christian Movement of America.

Formerly president of the Philippines Club here, Diosdado's other campus activities include membership in the Men's Education Club; the International Students' Society; and the International Relations Club.

OFFICERS OF SENIORS URGE SUBSCRIPTIONS TO GRADUATE FUND

The fund yearly by a total sufficiently large enough to enable the fund to undertake some project of great benefit to the University and its students. A student union building, an athletic field, a library building, are some of the projects which have been suggested should be undertaken when the fund shall have reached sufficient proportions.

The Graduate Endowment Fund is a project initiated by the student body and endorsed by the leading campus organizations.

The present board of administrators is composed of Dorothy Ruth, A. B., 1930, chairman; Arthur F. Johnson, M. E., '15; Gilbert Karl Ludwig, B. S., in M. E., '26; Frank Weitzel, A. B., '31; and Firman P. Lyle, B. S., in E. E., '32. The District National Bank of Washington is trustee for the fund.

Careful provisions have been made to insure the perpetuity of the fund and expenditures of a sound nature. Its purpose is to provide a permanent source of income to be used for the development of the George Washington University in such ways as its board of administrators may direct, and to give each graduate an opportunity to share in that development.

The standard pledge to the fund has been fixed at $100, payable in 10 yearly installments. February graduates need not meet the first payment of their pledge until June, 1933. Thus, the financial obligation is not burdensome, and every graduate should be able to assume this responsibility.

Green H. Hackworth Speaks On International Arbitration

Difficulties in international arbitration and negotiation in the field of mixed claims, were discussed by Green H. Hackworth, legal advisor to the State Department, at the regular meeting of Delta Phi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity, held at the Sigma Nu house, Monday evening, February 13.

A large gathering of alumni and guests of the foreign service group were present. During the evening Dean George N. Henning gave a short talk. Refreshments were served following the discussion. It was announced by Howard Payne, president of the chapter, that the next meeting would be held at the Sigma Chi House, February 27, at 8 p. m.

Campus Women Will Sell Blossoms Today

Endowment of School of Government Sponsored by Masons Begins

Proceeds from the cherry blossom sale, which began yesterday and continues today, will be given to the Masonic endowment fund of the School of Government, according to Curtis Christianson, president of the Masonic Club of the George Washington University, under whose auspices the sale is being made.

Provost William Allen Wilbur began the sale of cherry blossoms by donating a dollar. Deans and professors of the various colleges have always contributed in the past and it is expected that the custom will continue.

The sale of cherry blossoms is not confined to the campus, but is held yearly by the Masonic organizations throughout the United States in order to support the $1,000,000 endowment made by the Masons to the School of Government.

"Each school in the University will be canvassed by campus women in an effort to boost the sale of cherry blossoms here," said Christianson. "We wish to show our brother organizations that George Washington students appreciate the endowment made by the Masonic Club," he added.

Pharmacists to Grow Experimental Garden

An experimental drug garden with a series of 18 beds will be planted in the rear of the athletic office within a fortnight, according to Raymond Sherman Smith, instructor of pharmacognosy and pharmacology.

At present, Mr. Smith plans to study the plants used in medicine. Approximately 80 different species of plants will be studied to test their growth in this locality in an effort to check-up on the natural relations to their environment.

In the District of Columbia, 100 medicinal plants have been discovered, both in the cultivated and wild state. The School of Pharmacy intends to use some of these in conjunction with its work to "see how they respond to cultivation," said Mr. Smith.

Though the beds will be planted and cared for by hired help, the study and observation will be made by members of the junior class of the School of Pharmacy.

Japanese University Students Talk Here

Japan and the Japanese people were interestingly pictured and interpreted by university students from that country for the members and guests of the International Students Society, Tuesday evening, February 14, in Corcoran Hall 27.

Professor Deibert, advisor of the society, presided and introduced Tadayoshi Yamada, K. Sumomogi, and T. R. Makiyama, who are visiting the United States on a "good-will tour," returning a similar tour made by American students of the University of Oregon. Roger A. Pfaws, graduate of the University of Oregon, and one of the Eastern good-will tour team sent from that institution, is manager of the group. While in Washington they are being entertained at the Japanese Embassy.

Three talks were given before the society: "A Historical Sketch of Japan," "Resume of the Imports and Exports of Japan," and "The Influence of American Civilization on the Japanese." The last topic was discussed from the viewpoint of Japanese reaction to the daily use of typical modern American products such as we have taken as everyday necessities.

COLONIAL QUINT MEETS C. C. N. Y. TOMORROW IN NEW YORK TOURNEY

Ty Hertzler, regular center, and Bill Noonan, utility reserve, for the regular center berth has aroused a great deal of interest among the players and fans. The big event will offer a tremendous vent for this enthusiasm, and should vie with the contest itself for the "center ring."

Besides the capacity of the team itself, there is to be considered the atmosphere and color developed by the widespread press comment. The Buff and Blue cagers will be adorned in new uniforms especially appropriate to such an occasion as George Washington's Birthday.

The facts that the C. C. N. Y.-G. W. encounter is the feature of the tournament, and that the Colonials, barring Captain Zahn, are in the best shape of the year, add interest to the tilt among the local fans. Though the critics by no means give the edge of victory to the O'Learymen, they have been consistent in their praise of the team and have unhesitatingly stipulated that a close battle will ensue.

Professor Duped By Faked Fossils

Cullible Pedant Bites on Weird Creations of Impish Students

When a professor bites, it's news! The whole trend of geological thought of the eighteenth century was changed by the fact that this particular professor did "bite."

In a German university one day, a group of prankish students carved and moulded, out of soft rock, a strange creation vaguely resembling the class of fossils they were then studying. They took it to the professor with a long story of how they had stumbled onto it. And he believed it! Becoming very much excited over this new find, he organized a field trip for the search of these fossils. So, said clever students immediately concocted more and better geological phenomena, burying them all around that vicinity for the benefit of the professor's explorations.

The joke began to assume such proportions that it was almost necessary to keep it up. It was kept up—for five or six years. The professor wrote volumes on these new developments in geology during these years and made a good-sized fortune through the publishing of his books.

The hoax finally leaked out and the professor was so chagrined that he spent months and all of his fortune buying back, as quietly as possible, every book he had written. His relatives, were furious at his conscientiousness and after his death resold the books. They were finally collected and are now in various museums.

This is one of the stories Dr. Ray Smith Bassler, of the geology department, uses to enliven his classes here at George Washington. As head curator of the geology department of the National Museum, he is continually receiving fake-geological specimens—so-called petrified wood, which turns out to be gun cotton dropped from battleships, and is highly explosive, and amber beads that have been melted with insects placed in the middle and remoulded. The museum even received a letter recently from a lady, offering to sell the body of her aunt. She said that it had been necessary to move the remains of her aunt, and on doing so, the body was found in perfect condition, in what they thought was a petrified state. Dr. Bassler explained to her that it was not petrified at all, but was in a wax-like condition. This condition came about by the fact that the chemicals, taken in by water from certain soils, and coming in contact with the fatty acids of the flesh, had caused it to turn to a sort of wax, which, when exposed to air, dissolves in time. You see, Dr. Bassler doesn't "bite."

Speakers' Congress Beats Philippines In Freedom Debate

The current question of immediate independence for the Philippines was debated by the Speakers' Congress and the Philippines Club on Wednesday, February 15, in W-10.

Bourke Floyd and Edward Northrop, of the Speakers' Congress, upheld the negative of the statement: "Resolved, that the Philippines should be granted immediate independence." The affirmative side was supported by N. W. Isarong and Diosdado Yap, of the Philippines Club.

Floyd and Northrop emphasized the unstable economic condition of the world today as unfavorable for the re-appearance of the Philippines as a separate entity on the world stage.

The Philippines have already been granted, and the United States, their "benevolent guardian," merely asks them to wait until world economic conditions may be better for them; the fact that other tropical countries will be strong will offer strong competition, and that the Philippines do not produce enough food for the islands were points brought out. The final question of the negative side was, "How will the Philippines finance independence?"

In support of the affirmative, Isarong told how 27 bills carried by the Philippine Legislature, beneficial to the islands, were vetoed by the Governor General. "No nation has achieved greatness while in a state of dependence," he said. The representatives of the Philippines Club reminded the negative that the islands had been economically independent before the United States took them over. "We have had 34 years of training for freedom," said Mr. Yap. "We are ready for absolute independence now."

The judges, C. Manley Fesler, editor of The Hatchet; Mr. James C. Wingo, Washington correspondent for the Philippine Press, and an alumnus of the University; and Week of the Graduate School, awarded the decision to the negative.

An open forum was held after the debate.

Forum Hears Speech By Major Hasbrouck

Major Hasbrouck, U. S. A., retired, was the speaker at the meeting of the Inter-American Forum which was held in Lambie House on Friday, February 10. Major Hasbrouck holds the degree of Ph. D. from Columbia and has specialized in Latin-American research.

Dr. A. Curtis Wilgus, professor of Hispanic-American history in the University, is president of the Inter-American Forum. Other members of the University faculty who hold membership are President Marvin, Dean Doyle, and Professor Cecil Knight Jones.

Medical School Students Organize Baumont Society

Undergraduate members of the George Washington Medical School have recently formed a society for the purpose of producing and stimulating an active interest in current happenings in the medical world. The society has been named in honor of William Baumont.

The officers are: Harry Elder, president; John Skelly, vice president; W. B. Richwine, secretary and treasurer; Jack Dorset, chairman of the executive committee, and Clyde Flood, chairman of the entertainment committee.

After College WHAT?

Architecture?

Kenneth Reid, managing editor of the architectural publication, "Pencil Points," writes: "The successful architect needs not only an instinctive feeling for design and a technical skill in construction, but also a complete cultural background. Architecture requires long training, intensive concentration, a keen mind."

IN ARCHITECTURE, certainly, brains rate 100 per cent. . . . intensive concentration, a keen mind. That's why in this business, as in college, a pipe is the favorite smoke. Get out your pipe now, light up, and through the curling blue puffs of Edgeworth, let your mind drift down the road to those years after graduation.

If you're not already an Edgeworth smoker, there's new smoking satisfaction waiting for you. Edgeworth's blend of fine old burleys is distinctive, different. You'll know—after the first puff. Want to try it before you buy? Write for free sample packet. Lams & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

*A recent investigation showed Edgeworth's favorite smoke at 42 out of 54 leading colleges.
